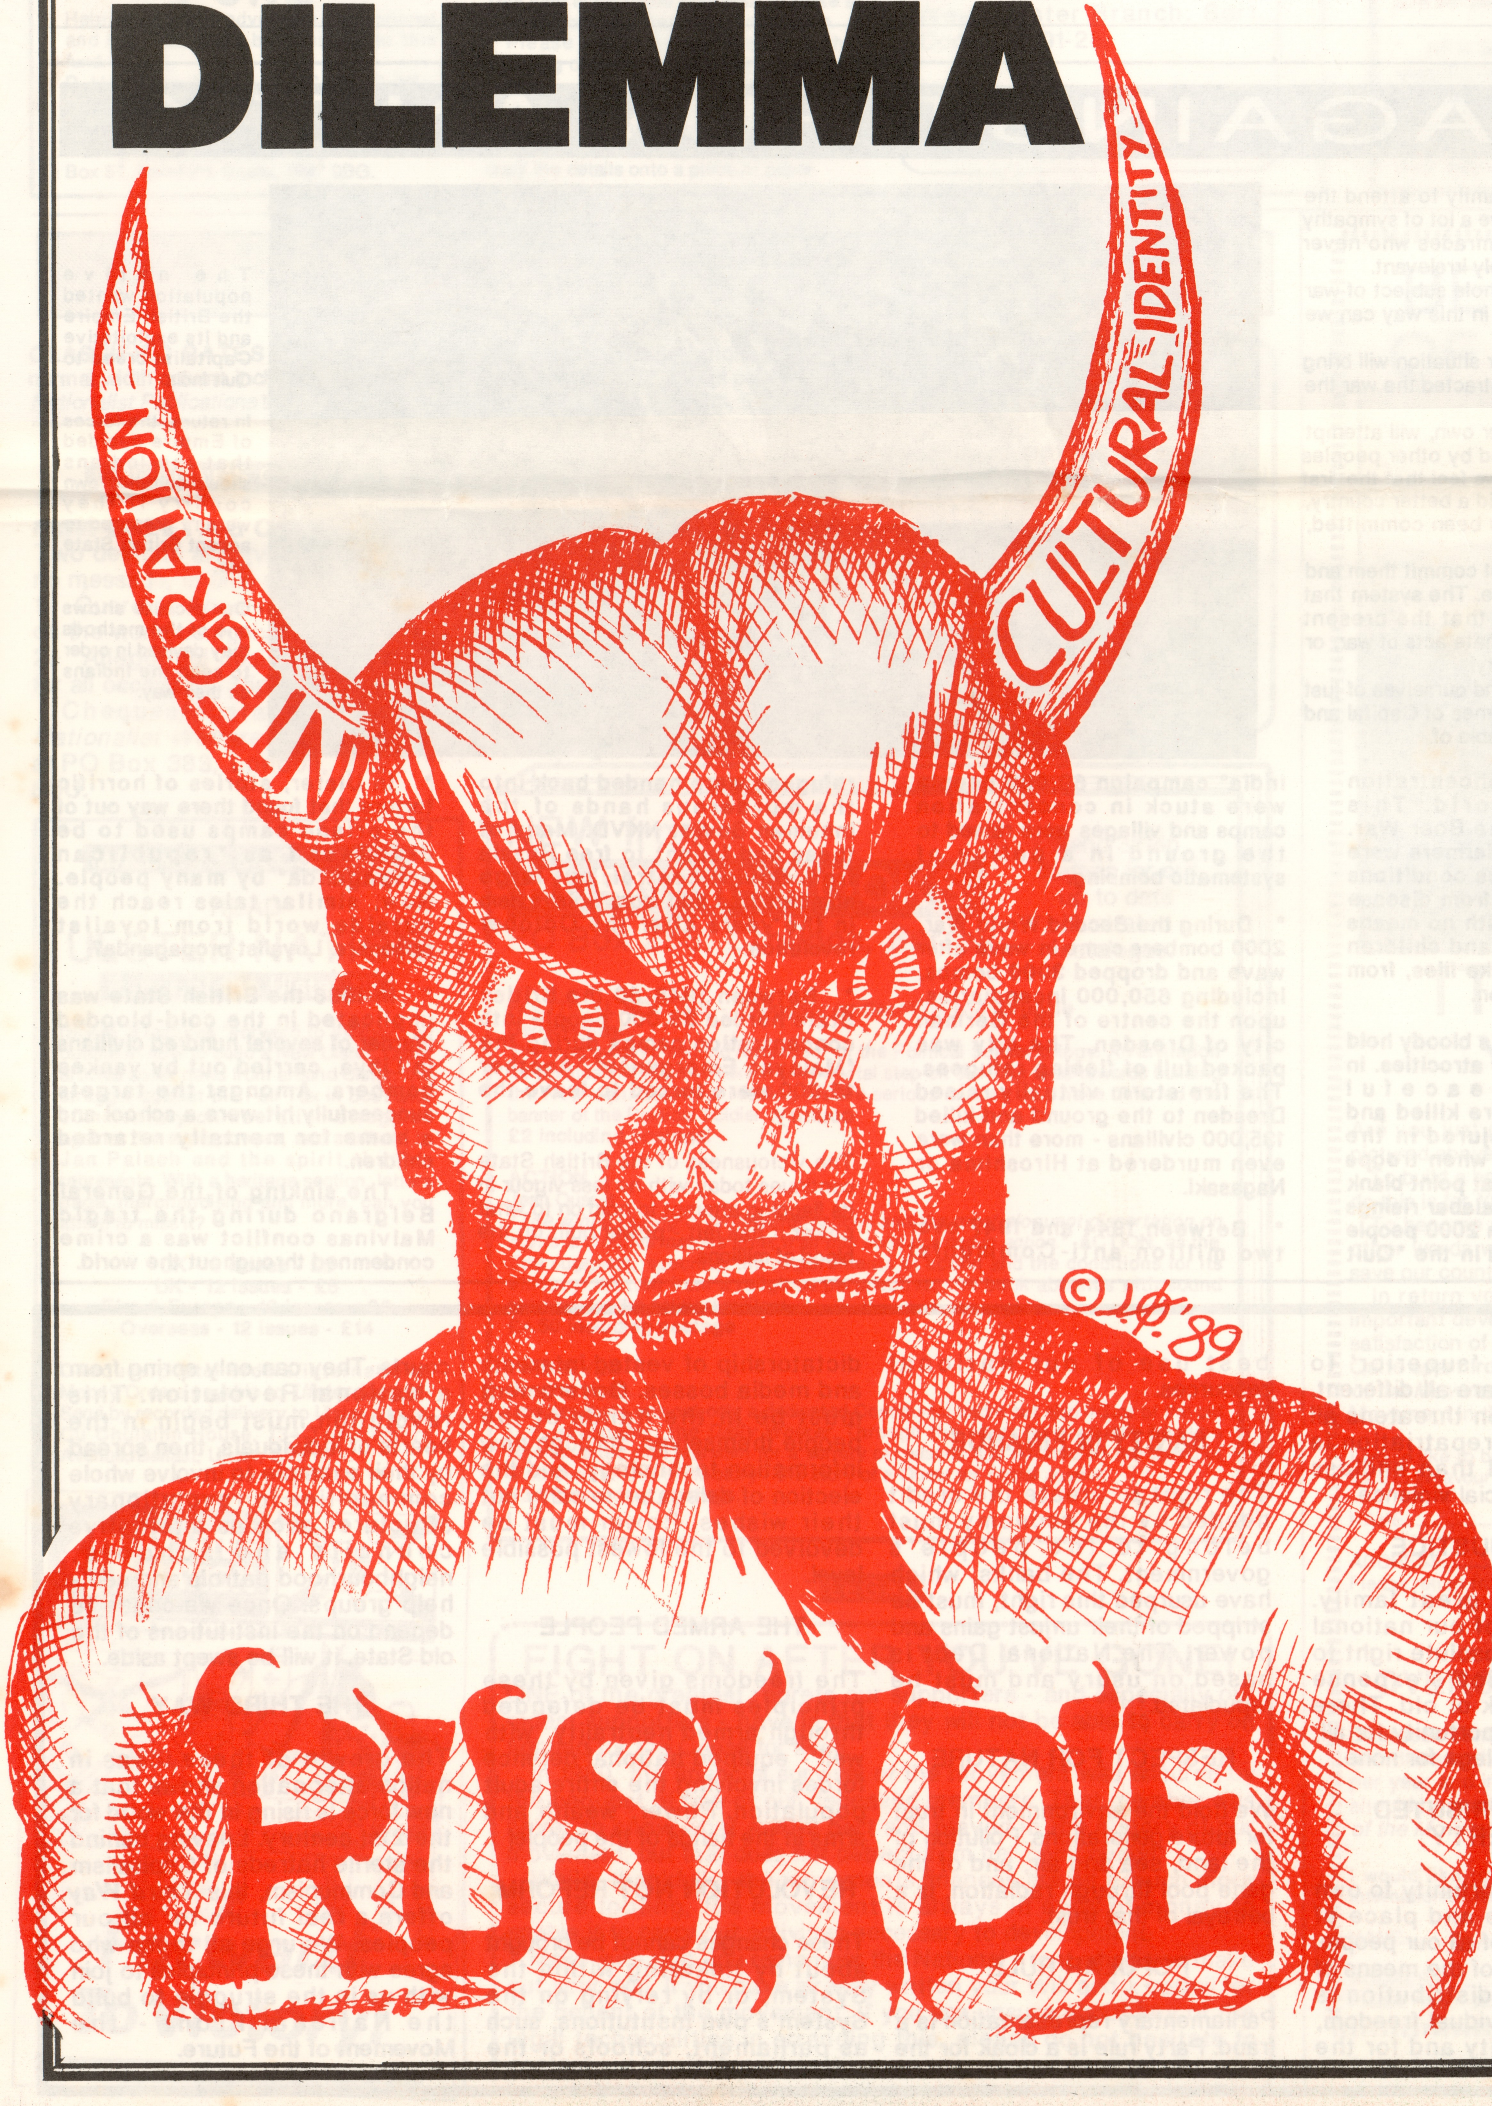
THE HORNS OF THE DILEMMA



THE SICK liberal and racial melting pot ideal is dead! Recent moves towards segregated schooling, first by the Whites of Dewsbury and West Indian church groups, then by various Muslim communities in Britain, brought multi-racism to its death bed last year. But the Salman Rushdie affair has shown that the multi-racist dream is now nothing more than a rotting corpse whose burial is long overdue.

Salman Rushdie was born in India in 1947 and brought up as a Muslim. Since moving to Britain he has led a cosy liberal life, writing trendy novels and mixing with various Marxist sects. Now married to a White woman, Rushdie has turned his back on his own roots. His latest novel, the Satanic Verses, is a vicious attack on Islam.

It is clear from the contents of the book that Rushdie knew that it would stir up trouble, but he felt no qualms about launching his tatty tract in Britain, even though he must have known that it would cause a good deal of trouble between Britain and the Muslim world. But he doesn't care for his native India, and his recent interview in Socialist Worker made it plain that he doesn't give a damn about this country either.

MORE TROUBLE

But although he has often slagged off Britain as "racist" in the past, he was quick enough to go running for official protection here once he realized that he had stirred up more trouble than he could handle.

Yet in a strange way Rushdie has done us a favour. It is now plain for all to see that the liberal drive to import huge numbers of coloured immigrants in order to dilute and destroy our native culture has backfired. Far from creating a more "tolerant" (in other words apathetic) society, it is bringing about a situation where large numbers of people are determined to hold on to their own cultures and heritage.

So far it has been mainly Asians and young West Indians who have been affected in this way, but it is inevitable that such feelings of identity and belonging will be rekindled in our own peoples as well.

The liberals are now caught on the horns of a terrible dilemma. On the one hand they favour continued immigration and the destruction of the races and peoples of mankind. In the past they have been happy to boost Black and Asian culture at the expense of our native cultures in order to wipe out any feelings of White identity, but they have now found that the foreign races have become more "intolerant" and fanatical than the "racist" British peoples ever were.

The liberals have passed Race Law after Race Law to keep ordinary Whites silent as our country is taken from us, but they have always encouraged immigrants to express themselves freely. And now that those same immigrants are, quite rightly, calling for the blood of an anti-cultural creep who has insulted their deeply held beliefs in the most calculated way, all the liberals can do is squeal.

For twenty years Rushdie's supporters in the world of the "arts" and the media have worked ceaselessly to deny the National Front the right of free speech, to censor us out of existance. They have failed! But now, when many Muslim visitors to our country want to curb this one, offensive, novel, they scream about "book burning" and "the right to self-expression."

DOESN'T BELONG

The NF doesn't have such problems over Rushdie. He doesn't belong in our country. There is no reason why we should have to put up with trouble on our streets because a foreigner decides to pick a fight with a religion held almost entirely by foreigners. He should be kicked out of Britain at once under the law that allows for such deportations in the event of a threat to public peace.

Of course, we don't believe that the immigrants that Rushdie has offended should be permanantly in our country either, but while they are here we respect their right to defend their own culture and beliefs. We also have sympathy with many of their ideas, especially their devotion to family stability and their desire to bring up their children as Asians rather than as "Brown Britons".

But while we repect their values and their rights, we do not accept their "right" to live here. And perhaps the Rushdie affair has made a few liberals realize one of the many reasons why.

The simple fact is that a society can only be at peace with itself if the state - the government, laws, law enforcers etc - reflects the wishes and values of the nation it serves. In other words the ordinary people and their traditions. So if you try to have several nations crammed into an area ruled by one State, some, if not all the different racial and cultural groups are bound to lose out. It means repression, resentment and eventual violence and chaos.

MATTER OF TIME

The Rushdie affair shows just how close our land has come to such multi-racial chaos. It is only a matter of time before this, or some similar incident, pushes it over the brink. The liberals can no longer pretend that peaceful integration is a realistic option.

Just for once there is no third way. The only choice is between repression and spiralling violence, or repatriation. The sooner people start facing up to this fact, the sooner we can start to work out the most humane and orderly way to dismantle the failed multi-racist nightmare.

EUROPE OF THE MERCHANTS

ALL the major Establishment parties act as one when it comes down to important matters. Be it immigration, the banking system, immigration or a host of other subjects they all think and act in unison.

We are continually told how wonderful the EEC is and how great it is for consumer choice. We do not dispute that the EEC is a boon for big business and its paid henchmen, the politicians. But for the nations of Europe it is a centralized and inefficient disaster.

Reports just published by the "Consumers in the European Community Group" show how the bent politicians squander our money. The Common Market's agricultural policy is described as "inneficient and expensive" - it costs an average family of four in Europe an extra £13.50 per week in higher food prices and taxes.

They also believe that there will be less choice for consumers after 1992, not more as is usually claimed. But the most alarming thing is that national consumer protection could be watered down or scrapped completely. This means that safety standards would be likely to fall even further. The report goes on to claim that by 1992 there will be higher prices, less competition and less choice.

But since our political masters are in the pay and employ of big business and the banking system, nothing effective can or will be done to scrap or reform the growing faceless bureaucrats' empire.

It is becoming increasingly obvious that the nations of Europe, including our own, must work together to protect our common culture and economic interests against the barons of Japan and the US in the next century. But the EEC bureaucrats' gravy train is not the answer.

For the EEC is the Europe of the Merchants. What is needed is a Europe of Free Peoples.

CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE

WHILE the Tories dither about knocking a few pence off the price of unleaded petrol, and whilst Margaret Thatcher herself refuses to get her own fleet of expensive cars converted, the poisonous lead levels in our air have shot up by another 5% in the last year alone.

A new report by the Department of Industry's Warren Springs lab in Hertfordshire cites three lead pollution blackspots which help to make Britain the filthiest place in Europe for lead pollution.

Central Paris does have the highest rate, but Britain takes the next three top spots on the list of shame: Central London; industrial Cardiff and Junction 4 on the M56 near Manchester airport.

Many other British towns and cities are nearly as bad. With mounting evidence of the enormous harm done to unborn babies and young children by lead in the air, the government's failure to launch an all-out drive towards lead-free petrol is a terrible example of criminal negligence.

THE ENVIRONMENTAL CRISIS

RED VERSUS GREEN

IF you thought that the Tory attitude towards environmental protection was bad enough, then just take a look at the Labour Party.

Top Labour spokesman, Michael Meacher, recently called upon Neil Kinnock to drop green issues from Labour's political agenda.

Attempting to justify this he stated that his party should be "more concerned with taking the grey out of peoples lives than with putting the green in."

This attitude shows a gross ignorance of the national and global importance of environmental issues, an attitude rooted in Labour's acceptance of the Capitalist obsession with the chimera of unrestricted industrial growth.

All of Britain's political parties are stuck in the rut of nineteenth century liberal ideology. That is why there is no fundamental difference between them.

Only the National Front stands above the deceitful, petty bickering of the party system. Only the National Front has a progressive, organic philosophy, capable of sustaining a just economy and social system without destroying our environment.

WATER GOES DOWN HILL!

THE Tories have been in power since 1979 and the environment has been going down hill ever since. A recent report discloses that many rivers in Britain are now completely fishless as a result of acid rain and industrial and agricultural waste.

So bad has the problem of water pollution become that more than a fifth of British freshwater fish species face extinction unless immediate steps are taken to cure pollution. And at least 12 of the 55 species of fish urgently require specific conservation measures.

Dr. Derek Mills, senior professor of freshwater fisheries management at Edinburgh university says that "it is right that people should be concerned" and that "in recent years there has been no improvement in the pollution problem in rivers, and there is some evidence of deteriorating standards."

But since Tory concern for the environment is one big hoax we are sure that nothing will be done to help save and nurture what is left of our natural heritage.

CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY

The hype over whether it's right for a member of the royal family to attend the funeral of the Japenese war criminal, Hirohito, is a farce. We have a lot of sympathy with war veterans who suffered in the Far East and their comrades who never returned, but when looked at objectively, the current row is largely irrelevant.

This should have been a golden opportunity to look at the whole subject of war crimes and the conditions that allow such things to arise. Only in this way can we attempt to stop such atrocities happening again.

What it boils down to is that in a despiritualised world, any war situation will bring out the worst in human behaviour and attitude, and the more protracted the war the more likely that atrocities will happen.

Unfortunately, the populations of most countries, including our own, will attempt to argue that war crimes are things that can only be committed by other peoples and that their own immediate history is whiter than white. But we feel that the first step that must be taken if we sincerely claim to be trying to build a better country, and a better world, is to recognise the war crimes that have been committed, supposedly, in the name of our peoples.

We do not feel guilt for these crimes, just revulsion. We did not commit them and we strongly condemn such things being carried out in our name. The system that we are forced to live under is responsible, and the fact that the present administrators of that system either claim that they were legitimate acts of war, or completely ignore the fact that they happened, makes them guilty!

It is for this reason that NFN feels that it is important to remind ourselves of just a few of these atrocities, so that history does not forget the crimes of Capital and so that we do not forget what its British representatives are capable of.

The native population wanted the British Empire and its exploitative Capitalist creed to Quit India.

In return, the forces of Empire decided that the Indians should quit their own country if they weren't prepared to accept British State rule.

Our picture shows one of the methods they devised in order to send the Indians on their way.

THE history of the rise of Capitalism in Britain is also the corresponding history of its forgotten war crimes. From the excesses of Whiggery in the 18th century, specifically in Gaelic Scotland and Ireland, whilst carving out its 'United Kingdom' it soon progressed further afield in its quest for empire and wealth. Many of the British State's worst crimes were committed whilst exploiting the resources and peoples of foreign lands.

 The Opium Wars, in China, of 1839 and 1856-1860 were particularly vicious. The second war ended with Peking being raised to the ground.

 It was the British State that first introduced concentration camps to the world. This happened during the Boer War. Thousands of Boer farmers were interned in atrocious conditions and thousands died from disease and malnutrition. With no means to survive, women and children also dropped dead like flies, from disease and starvation.

 The British State's bloody hold over India saw many atrocities. In 1917, 380 peaceful demonstarators were killed and more than 1000 injured in the Amritsar massacre when troops were ordered to fire at point blank range. During the Malabar risings of 1921-22 more than 2000 people were butchered and in the "Quit India" campaign 60,000 people were stuck in concentration camps and villages were raised to the ground in a policy of systematic bombing.

 During the Second World War, 2000 bombers came in wave after wave and dropped 3000 bombs, including 650,000 incendiaries, upon the centre of the German city of Dresden. The city was packed full of fleeing refugees. The fire storm virtually raised Dresden to the ground and killed 135,000 civilians - more than were even murdered at Hiroshima or Nagasaki.

 Between 1944 and 1947 over two million anti-Communist refugees were handed back into the murderous hands of the inhuman Soviet NKVD. Many of these had fought to free Russia from Soviet control, but large numbers had fled from Bolshevism in the years after the October revolution.

 Between 1948-60 the British State herded 35,000 people into concentration camps during the "Malayan Emergency". Another 15,000 were forced to leave the country.

The viciousness of the British State continues today with no less vigour in its flagging attempt to hold on to what power it has left - power built on the blood of millions.

 In Ulster, stories of horrific torture that found there way out of the prison camps used to be dismissed as "republican propaganda" by many people. Now, similar tales reach the outside world from loyalist prisoners. Loyalist propaganda?

 In 1986 the British State was implicated in the cold-blooded murder of several hundred civilians in Libya, carried out by yankee bombers. Amongst the targets successfully hit were a school and a home for mentally retarded children.

 The sinking of the General Belgrano during the tragic Malvinas conflict was a crime condemned throughout the world.

WHERE WE STAND

NATIONAL FREEDOM

Britain is a family of Nations - England, Wales, Scotland, Kernow, Mannin, Eire and Ulster - linked by blood and history. The peoples of all nations have an inalienable right to self - determination and to preserve their native cultures and traditions. We look forward to the day when Eire voluntarily rejoins the future federated British family of nations.

RACIAL SEPARATION

Race is the main determining factor in nationality. Racially mixed societies cannot form one nation and are therefore unstable. No one race is 'superior' to others, but they are all different. Racial integration threatens all races. Humane repatriation is better for us all than endless repression and racial violence.

SOCIAL JUSTICE

The nation is a great family. Every member of our national family has the absolute right to care at the nation's expense when young, sick or old. There must be equal opportunity for all, but unearned privilege for none.

WELL DISTRIBUTED PROPERTY

The realistic opportunity to own one's own home and place of work is the right of all our people. Direct ownership of the means of production and distribution is essential for individual freedom, for family stability and for the best use of our national resources.

SANITY IN FINANCE

The right to create the credit needed by the economy must belong to the people's government. The banks, which have usurped this right, must be stripped of their unjust gains and power. The National Debt is based on usury and must be repudiated.

RESPECT FOR NATURE

We hold the environment in trust for future generations. Pollution of the land, sea and air, and of the gene pool through radiation, is a betrayal of that trust.

POPULAR RULE

Parliamentary representation is a fraud. Party rule is a cloak for the dictatorship of vested interests and media bosses. Government must be in the hands of the people themselves, through new information technology, and the election of delegates to carry out their wishes. Power must be devolved to the lowest possible level.

THE ARMED PEOPLE

The freedoms given by these principles must be defended through armed neutrality, with well - equiped national defence forces involving the entire adult population. Power, wealth and arms in the hands of the people!

REVOLUTION NOT REFORM

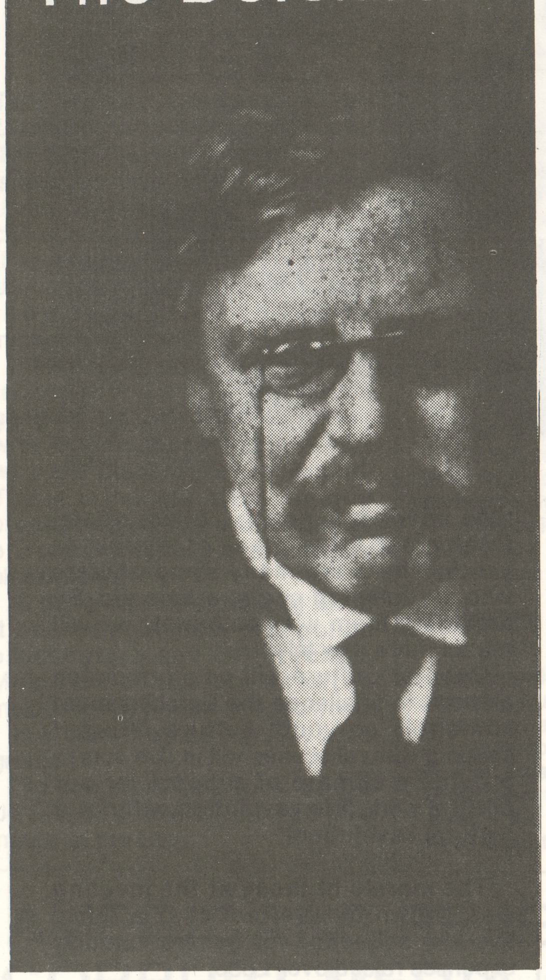
These changes cannot be brought about by tinkering within the System, or by relying on the System's own institutions, such as parliament, schools or the courts. They can only spring from a National Revolution. This revolution must begin in the hearts of individuals, then spread by their example to involve whole communities in revolutionary structures such as alternative councils and schools, neighbourhood patrols and self - help groups. Once we cease to depend on the institutions of the old State, it will be swept aside.

THE THIRD WAY

The growth of these ideas in nation after nation shows that a new force is rising in the world for the 21st century. Leaving behind the sterile hatreds of Capitalism and Communism, this Third Way offers a real future for all our peoples. We urge all those who agree with these principles to join with us in the struggle to build the National Front - the Movement of the Future.

HOME AFFAIRS, ANALYSIS & COMMENT

The Defendant



The Chesterton Society have launched an international appeal in order to purchase Top Meadow. They intend to establish there a centre for the active study and propagation of Chesterton's work.

G.K.C. is one of the Movement's principal forbears and mentors. It was Chesterton, along with Hilaire Belloc who developed the socio-economic idea of Distributism - the creed of the National Front.

After the appeal in our last issue, many units and individuals have told us that they have donated to this worthy venture. But we suspect that there are many more who haven't yet done so.

Any donation, no matter how small, would be appreciated by the Chesterton Society.

Please send contributions payable to The Top Meadow Trust, to: Mr. Paul Pinto, 20 Valleyside, Hemel Hempstead, Herts.

MORE IDENTITY CARDS ON THE WAY!

ANY dictatorial Establishment like we have in the West must know exactly where its subjects are in order to control them and to nip any possible discontent in the bud. The latest move in this direction is the idea of a European identity card which would serve as a travel document within the EEC and also as a voluntary ID card in Britain. This card is currently being conidered by our masters in the Home Office.

The idea is being pushed by John Wheeler, Chairman of the Commons Home Affairs Select Committee, who has said that "it could be used when people need an ID card to drink in pubs or to prove their identity."

The new ID card will have a machine readable strip containing basic information about the holder which includes name, age and "other information about the holder."

Just what that other information is the State does not disclose, but we can have a good guess!

This creeping apparatus of tyranny must be opposed at every possible opportunity. For as long as such cards are voluntary, they must be rejected out of hand. And the efforts to make them compulsory, which will surely follow, must be opposed with imaginative local and national campaigns involving whole communities.

ISLAM v. INTEGRATION

THE Salman Rushdie affair has brought about a penetrating insight to the conflict of values present in multi-racial Britain. It is a conflict that even the most apolitical can not have helped but notice.

It will be of great interest in coming weeks, perhaps even months, to see how multi-racist advocates attempt to defend their untenable position.

But while our self-imposed liberal establishment sweats over its dilemma, a situation that could easily bring violent confrontation between approximately three million Muslims and the British State, our view of the situation is clear.

We do not believe that multi-racial societies work, ever have worked or ever will work. History is littered with tragic episodes that illustrate this only too well.

For this reason, the National Front support, and demand that the State support, the setting up of schools that reflect the values and traditions of the different immigrant communities until they can be peacefully repatriated. Their children have the right to be brought up and educated within their own cultural environment. It is clear to see that forced integration only brings conflict and eventually bloodshed.

Separate schooling will also lead to a desire for racial separatism in practice, because adherents to cultural and religious values that differ from our indigenous traditions are almost entirely non European.

ARE RACE ATTACKS AGAINST THE LAW?

"RACIAL ATTACKS are against the law" is the snappy and amazing title of the Metropolitan police's new publicity campaign. Tens of thousands of pounds have been spent on posters, training videos and adverts to get over this most surprising point.

Are we to take it that before this campaign racial attacks were legal? Or did the boys in blue just think they were? Or do they think that ordinary people believe that racial violence is legal?

The truth, on the face of it, is that this pathetic platitude is aimed at reassuring Asians and Blacks, rather than changing the attitudes of Whites. If you doubt this then try changing the slogan to "Burglaries are against the law" - would that deter burglars? The idea is ridiculous.

The next time that the Met. decides on a campaign against race attacks, we hope they will give the NF a chance to put in a quote for the design of their propaganda material and the shape that the message will take.

There is certainly no doubt that last years campaign against racial attacks was far cheaper than the present farce, and it certainly had more chance of success.

There is however a serious side to this police silliness. According to the training video which backs up their campaign, the police themselves no longer have to judge whether an incident is or is not racially motivated.

From now on our intrepid bobbies will simply tell the victim of any kind of assault that "if you tell me that it was racially motivated, it will be recorded as a race attack."

To hand over the analysis of a crime to its victim is absolutely unheard of in all other police work. The intention is probably just to avoid the police having the politically sometimes difficult job of making such a judgement.

But the result could well be to produce distorted figures showing "a massive rise in racial attacks" which will then no doubt be used to beat the NF with.

So the police get off the hook and the NF become even more of a scapegoat for society's problems.

That's as fair as their slogan is sensible!

A race attack in progress. "Excuse me sir, would you be kind enough to show me your driving licence?"

DISCLAIMER

THE National Directorate of the National Front wishes to make it clear that the Flag and Vanguard are not National Front publications. They do not reflect NF policy or strategy and do not speak for the National Front.

They are produced by a small clique of reactionaries, thieves and drunks, expelled from the NF in 1986. Officials are reminded that both publications and their editors are proscribed. Members of the public are warned that the NF cannot be held responsible for money lost on subscriptions to the Flag and Vanguard when they cease publication.

DO you remember the Tory MP, Keith Best, who lost his seat for Ynys Mons after trying to defraud taxpayers by making multiple share applications in British Telecom?

Well, it's come to our attention that Best was also the Treasurer of the insidious little group of MP's who make up the all-party Parliamentary Group for World Government.

Let's hope that some of their CIA funding was diverted to other uses.

THE Scottish Green Party found themselves invited to Tripoli for the anniversary celebrations of the Al Fateh Revolution and a representative duly attended. Why haven't we seen any lurid stories in the press accusing their organization of being closet terrorists? Funny that. Bet they don't get any trouble from MI5 either!

IT seems that Searchlight opportunist Ray Hill hasn't changed much since his involvement in the international Nazi and racist movement.

A recent court case heard at Lincoln Crown Court indicates that the judge certainly thinks along these lines.

Raymond's two sons were the main prosecution witnesses in a case against a Jewish businessman from Mablethorpe, where all concerned live. Now Ray and family claim that the businessman had been carrying out sexual assaults. On the other hand, the man in question revealed that Hill had tried to blackmail him into getting a slice of his business interests. And because he told Hill where to go, these pathetic allegations constituted his revenge.

We won't go into all the sordid details in this column. That is left to a booklet shortly to appear that documents the whole story and plenty of other facts and incidents that our 'upright friends' would rather not have exposed to the light of day.

Suffice it to say that the defendant was quickly found not guilty!

We are sure that the judge made a sound decision. After all Hill claims that one of his sons, Billy, is a six foot tall, 12 stone teenager who is a likely boxing prospect for the 1992 Olympics.

He also claims that former boxing star Alan Minter described young Billy as "a future champion if I ever saw one".

We wouldn't have thought that an ageing Jewish businessman would have much success in sexually assaulting such a strapping lad, would you?

THE FRONT LINE

CADRE MEETING

EIGHT AIMS FOR '89

A YEAR OF STEADY PROGRESS IS PLANNED FOR THE NATIONAL FRONT. This was the message from the year's first Cadre Conference. This meeting unfolded our "Eight Aims for '89". These are:

1) TO EXPAND THE NUMBER OF 'FRIENDS OF THE MOVEMENT' SIGNIFICANTLY.

The FOM's provide a vital base of support for our campaigns. They should also act as the eyes and ears of the national Movements in the general population. Build the Friends of the Movement - Build the National Front.

2) TO BECOME DEBT-FREE FOR THE FIRST TIME IN OUR HISTORY.

Despite the fact that our Administration inherited over £60,000 debts at the end of 1985, they have virtually all been cleared. This has been done even though we have since purchased many thousands of pounds worth of assets. To become totally debt-free this year has become a very realistic aim.

3) TO PUT THE DISTRIBUTIST LEAGUE ON A PROFESSIONAL FOOTING.

This will involve distributing large numbers of advertising packs and charging DL units for adverts in publications. This will encourage units to make their merchandising operations more efficient and profitable, and take us a long way towards being able to employ at least one member of the Propaganda Department.

4) TO INCREASE THE CIRCULATION OF OUR PUBLICATIONS.

This is mainly up to NFN Supporters' units through door-to-door sales and 'missionary' activities aimed at encouraging the formation of NF units in the most promising nearby towns or areas.

5) TO IMPROVE THE IMAGE OF THE MOVEMENT AMONG THE PUBLIC.

The experience of units such as Isleworth, Havering and Oldham in Community Action projects must now be spread to the many units which have failed in this area up until now.

Individual NFN Supporters and FOM's can help our image by volunteering to monitor a particular publication, channel or programme for examples of anti-NF propaganda which needs to be countered. Such volunteers should contact PO Box 228, Manor Park, London, at once.

6) TO IMPROVE OUR SELECTION AND TRAINING OPERATIONS.

As well as working to spread a geneal knowledge of the history, ideology and strategy of the Movement, the S&T Department will be setting individual targets for cadres and candidate cadres. We must build on our existing strengths by training more key activists to a higher standard.

7) TO REBUILD OUR ELECTION MACHINE.

Units are required to contest local elections. Ulster NF will be fighting at least two council seats in the May elections. Should parlimentary by-elections arise then units must run abstentionist campaigns in order to take advantage of heightened political awareness.

The National Front will be contesting ten seats at the next general election. Parliamentary representation is an undemocratic fraud, but involvement in a limited campaign of our choice will bring organizational advances. We need to give our new generation of young activists experience in this field. We can use the new unaddressed freepost facility to spread our ideas for very little effort and so help to break down the old image of the NF that the mass of our peoples still hold.

The seats will be chosen to help build up certain areas, and the campaigns will be fought with the aim of making a financial profit from our electoral activity.

8) TO BUILD AN INFLUENTIAL MAGAZINE, RECORD COMPANY AND MEMBERSHIP ORGANIZATION UNDER THE BANNER OF 'COUNTER CULTURE'.

We have learnt a great deal from our involvement in the White Noise music club, and these lessons are now going to be put into practice.

The most important point is that the Movement must avoid being identified with any particular youth group. Counter Culture will therefore embrace most forms of music. The new magazine will also cover art, poetry, films, sport, fashion and other areas of interest to youth. There are many sympathizers who are talented poets, artists etc. By providing them with an outlet, we will attract more new talent.

Counter Culture will be a principled attempt to challenge the Establishment monopoly on youth culture. Vibrant national cultural scenes will in due course provide a climate of support for our political work. "No revolution without a cultural revolution!"

The morale of those at the meeting was shown by the fact that a fairly low-key collection for general running expenses raised over £850.

In addition to this, the Nationalist Welfare Association raised money through a raffle, and several go-ahead units raised large sums of money through running stalls.

The spirit and message of the meeting has since been put over well in Attack, the internal bulletin of the Ulster NF.

"1989 will be a missionary year for the NF. We must spread our good news of National Revolution to as many people as possible! We must reach many more people than at present with our positive vision of independence for Ulster, global racial separation, anti-Capitalism and anti-Communism and a free Europe. We need to sell more copies of Ulster Nation and National Front News and distribute more leaflets, stickers and posters. We need to build up a new and positive image for the Movement maximising the talents and abilities of you all."

LOCAL PROPAGANDA ON THE INCREASE

LOCAL INITIATIVE in the production of NF publicity material is seeing a welcome increase. Two of the latest examples of this healthy trend have occurred in London and in Wales.

LEYTON, EAST LONDON

As part of the current campaign by Labour Party extremists and other Marxists to use football grounds to recruit and exploit naive youngsters, a small number of football fanzines have started to attack the NF.

One such publication is Leyton Orienteer, whose Marxist producers thought that they could get away with lying about the NF. But they reckoned without a local football fan who is also a Friend of the Movement. He promptly responded to the uncalled for attack by producing a one-off pro-NF broadsheet, Leyton Orient Patriot.

This refuted the Marxist lies, and pointed out that the distributors included active supporters of the IRA.

The fans' response to the truth was excellent and Leyton Orienteer has suffered a marked reduction in popularity since.

While the NF has concluded that attempts to mix football and politics are both counter-productive in the long-term, and unfair on the fans, we must not sit idly by while our opponents attack the Movement at various football grounds.

Every NFN Supporter and FOM has a duty to take similar political defensive action should the need arise.

PONTYPRIDD, WALES

For an example of local NF publicity from an entirely positive angle, take a look at the work of our comrades in South Wales.

Although not contesting the Pontypridd by-election, in keeping with our strategy of ignoring parliamentary elections, they took advantage of the raised political consciousness in the area to run a "Don't Vote" campaign.

This was centred on a locally written and produced leaflet explaining that representation is a fraud and that a Welsh Assembly would be no better in this regard than Westminster.

It called on people to abstain from voting, and instead to get involved with Ffrynt Cenedlaethol Cymru's campaign for true independence through popular participation.

The leaflet's message was backed up with a range of imaginative stickers produced on computer address labels. This is a form of instant propaganda which is accessible to an ever-increasing number of ordinary people.

All local units should take advantage of this low-cost technology.

FIGHTING FOR THE COMMUNITY

ANOTHER NFN Supporters' unit which is particularly interested in progress through quietly making contacts at local level is Croydon. Lately, the unit has been copying and passing around a letter produced by the father of Lorraine Benson, who was brutally murdered near Raynes Park station, South London, just before Christmas.

The letter is addressed to the Home Secretary, and asks him to allow a referendum on the death penalty for murder.

There is, sadly, no chance of this happening, for the vast majority of our 650 odd "representatives" in the House of Commons, are opposed to capital punishment and are not prepared to carry out the wishes of the British peoples.

But everybody who can be persuaded to send such a letter at least learns from personal experience that parliamentary government is an undemocratic fraud, where the wishes of ordinary people count for nothing.

And getting people to understand this is the first step towards changing the System.

HELP US BREAK OUR CHAINS!

THE Ulster National Front will be contesting local government elections in several district council areas on 17th May. We need your help now! Help us get our message of an independent Ulster, free from terror, bigotry and tyranny, over to a much larger audience than is normally possible. In each area that we fight, we can have free postage to about 10,000 people, but we desparately need money to print enough campaigning material. As postering is legal in Ulster, we can also put up thousands of posters in each area.

For years the people of Ulster, from both communities, have only been able to choose who holds their chains - Westminster or Leinster House. We will give as many Ulsterfolk as possible the chance to vote positively for our nation. But in the most run-down and poverty stricken corner of Thatcher's "United Kingdom", to do it effectively we need your financial help.

Please send as much as you can spare today. We will acknowledge all donations in Ulster Nation by printing your initials and area. Cheques/PO's/IMO's should be made payable to "Ulster Fund" and sent by recorded delivery to: Cu Chulainn House, 134 Templemore Avenue, Belfast, Ulster, BT5 4FX.

The Third Way Message Spreads Throughout Europe!

FOR several years now, bigots and the politically illiterate in Britain have claimed that the Third Way message of the NF cannot work because it goes against the grain of "traditional Nationalism".

But those involved in the national struggle throughout Europe are increasingly recognizing that the Third Position is the creed of the 21st century and that the NF is presently the vanguard Movement of those involved in the European national revolutionary Cause.

One of many recent signs to indicate this is a small booklet produced by the Student wing of the German NPD. The 20 page booklet consists of an interview with the staff of the NF's Bureau of Foreign Affairs, and covers such areas as our ideas on Popular Participation, the cadre structure, Ulster independence and federalism, racial separatism and German unification and Europe, as well as our rejection of the cult of personality.

We are pleased to report that the booklet sold well at a recent NPD Congress amongst youth searching for a New Way.

CIL WHEREY?

WHILE campaigning on issues such as popular participation, the militants of Wales NF are also active in areas where Plaid Cymru's pro-Westminster materialism has left a gaping hole in the defence of Welsh and Wales.

The latest example of this is their recently launched Cilmeri campaign.

The annual ceremony of Remembrance for the last true Prince of Wales takes place every December at Cilmeri in mid-Wales. The death of Llywelyn the Last in 1282 marked the temporary end of Welsh independence and was a major step towards the subjugation of the identities of the Family of British Nations (including England) in the artificial centralised State of Britain.

The ceremony has been a key date for Welsh patriots ever since, and a large gathering assembles at the memorial stone each year. Yet when NFN Supporters in Caerdydd tried to book public transport to the site last year, they found that neither the "National" Welsh coach company, nor British Rail, had even heard of the ceremony, and that neither was prepared to lay on transport.

Appalled by this total disregard for the history of their country and the wishes of so many patriots, FfC Cymru militants promptly decided to launch a campaign to change things, starting with an excellent leaflet.

Once again, our comrades from the Land of Comrades are giving the lead in local activism.

Cilmeri represents one of the most important chapters in the history of the Welsh People. It is not merely a place, it is a symbol of our heroic past. It is the seed of our heroic future. Situated only a few miles from Builth Wells, it was in this village on the fateful day of December 11th 1282 that our true Prince of Wales, Llywelyn Ap Gruffudd, was slain by Saxon troops. His death was not merely the passing of a great leader and inspiration, it was to lead also to the breaking of the Welsh Nation under pressure from King Edward I of England. It was to lead directly to "The Great Bondage" of Wales, the period of oppression and suffering that we are still experiencing. And what makes it worse is that 707 years on, the majority of our People do not even realize that they are living in a repressive society. Even symbols do not shine out for them in all their pristine purity.

WORLD AFFAIRS, ANALYSIS & COMMENT

MIRROR IMAGE

THE Soviet newspaper, the Literary Gazette has admitted that Mafia style organized crime is big business within the Soviet Union. The paper said that Soviet citizens brought up with the idea that gangsters exist only in the USA have difficulty admitting that they themselves have no immunity against crime.

The paper claims that racketeers and drug trafficking gangs in Moscow are often linked with Communist Party officials who are blackmailed or bribed. These criminals often employ prostitutes to snare the sons of officials who are then easily blackmailed.

A gang can only prosper when it has reliable links with police prosecutors and CP officials. Members of the gangs often include people from the Komosol - the Communist Party youth group.

So the more you look at the USSR, the more you see the image of the USA.

MISSION IMPOSSIBLE?

AMERICAN INDIANS are set to oppose the anniversary celebrations of the European re-discovery and settlement of the continent due in 1992. A recent conference of the World Council for Native People held in Lima, Peru, overwhelmingly passed an important resolution outlining the destructive and self-destructive effects of the event 500 years ago.

The 600 Indian nations that were represented at the conference stated that the planned celebrations were an insult to the honour of their peoples. It is to be a celebration of a series of extermination policies and aggressions aimed at the Indian nations, that still persist today.

Asunicon Untiveros, speaking on behalf of the Indian Council for South America added that it was nothing but the beginning of a genocidal policy. He called for the propagation and study of the true historical and cultural value of American Indians to world history. Untiveros is the man who portrayed a Guarani chief in 'The Mission', a brilliant film that pushes a Third Position message.

The Indian struggle for Land Rights and self-determination is a hard one and a bitter historical experience. National Revolutionaries in Europe can help our Indian comrades by widely disseminating the fact that the Indian nations of America provided political models of living together and co-operation for thousands of years, but are now forced to live within foreign States which in many cases deny them basic human rights and dignity.

COWBOYS AND INDIANS

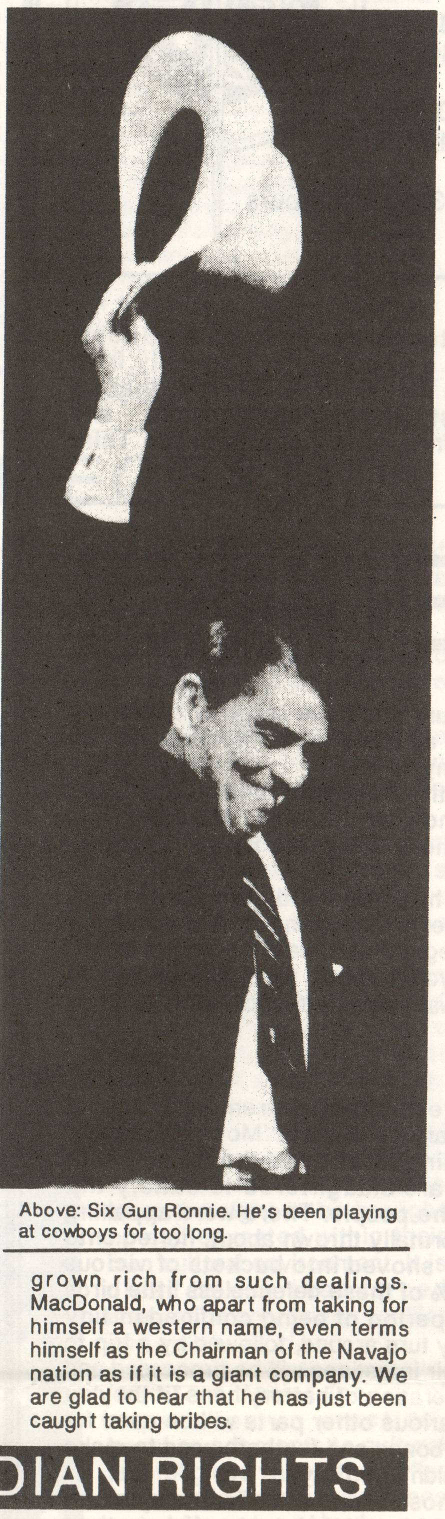
Meanwhile, in North America, several hundred chieftans and tribesmen are camped outside the entrance to ex-president "six gun Ronnie" Reagan's Californian range. They intend to stay there until Reagan retracts the disgusting statement he made about the Indians during a trip to the USSR several months ago.

When asked by students of Moscow university how he intended to solve the Indian problem, Reagan offered the monstrous reply: "Perhaps we made a mistake when we decided that the Indians could keep their Indian culture; perhaps we should not have encouraged them to hang on to their primitive lifestyle when putting them in reservations".

The Indian nations suffered horrifically during the early formation of the Washington State. After being defeated militarily, they were herded into reservations where they were supplied with limitless alcohol and smallpox infested blankets in order to break their spirit and lead to their eventual destruction. Today, reservation life is still plagued by enforced poverty and alcoholism for those nations which reject Capitalist values and lifestyles.

Material life is better for some nations like the Navajo where Washington has managed to impose Capitalist stooges and self-interested sell-outs in positions of authority. The reward for such nations voluntarily living under Washington's thumb is the encourgement of business interests to set up in the territory and employ the native inhabitants as wage slaves.

This policy of destruction is welcomed by such sell-outs as Navaho "leader" Peter MacDonald who have grown rich from such dealings. MacDonald, who apart from taking for himself a western name, even terms himself as the Chairman of the Navajo nation as if it is a giant company. We are glad to hear that he has just been caught taking bribes.



Above: Six Gun Ronnie. He's been playing at cowboys for too long.

SUPPORT INDIAN RIGHTS

THE GREAT FALL OF CHINA

MULTI-RACISTS of the Marxist variety have always tried to make out that racial conflict is an unnatural product of the Capitalist form of society. But this naive interpretation of history has been taking some hefty knocks in Communist China recently.

The Chinese have tried to build up influence in Africa for more than twenty years by encouraging large numbers of African students to go to university in China.

But native Chinese students have long resented the fact that their government provides their African guests with superior accomodation and ten times the usual monthly grant. There has also been simmering discontent over the way in which the African students take official slogans about building friendships between the different races too far resulting in them dating Chinese girls.

The trouble came to a head two years ago with African students taking to the streets complaining about race attacks and the State police turning a blind eye.

And the situation is steadily deteriorating. At the end of last year, brick-throwing Chinese students shouting racial abuse stormed an African dormitory. Similar race riots took off in several other cities and spread to Peking. Students proceeded to hold "anti-Black devil" marches and put up posters accusing an African of attempting to rape a Chinese girl.

The Black students countered this with counter demonstrations, boycotts and accusations of police brutality. Many demanded to be sent home.

This sorry state of affairs in a Communist State which is committed to a raceless, egalitarian view of the world is yet more proof that attempts to forcibly mix different races will always end in violence and hatred.

Racial attacks are not organized by "extremists". Nor can they be stopped by passing laws preventing native peoples from questioning whether their political masters are right to let large numbers of unassimilable foreigners into their country.

Racial hatred can only be ended when the different races are left to manage their own affairs in their own lands. The answer to racial problems is not hatred or repression, but separation. Only in this way will the different races of the world be able to live in peace, respect and friendship, and be able to work out their own destinies.

AMERICANS REJECT THE CORRUPT MEDIA CIRCUS!

THE media circus surrounding the recent U.S. election made it clear that the contest was won and lost by the way that the two clowns projected themselves on the TV and in the press.

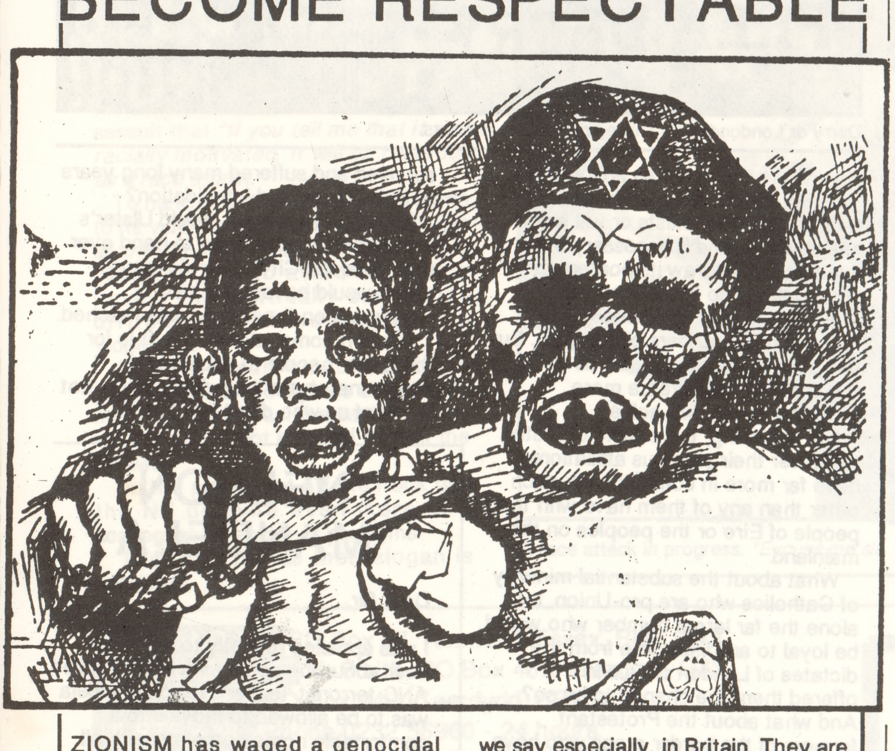
As with elections in this country, image is far more important than hard political facts, which do not come into play in the mass media.

But the simple fact is that the media decide who they will cover and who they will not cover. Even if someone could project themselves well on TV they would get little or no coverage if they are not one of the Establishment-approved puppets. It is clear that the small minded politicians need the media much more than they are needed themselves, for no political party can survive or be successful without the backing of the mass media. Naturally, the media could easily survive without the political nobodys. The media is always on top!

Yet one good thing that has come out of the election circus in the USA is the fact that the American peoples are strongly opposed to the Yank State. In many parts of the country fewer than 50% of people voted. And this does not include the many millions who quite rightly consider this circus a pathetic charade and a waste of time to even go and register to vote.

It seems that more people than we thought subconsciously know that representation is a fraud. It is up to national revolutionaries to show them that only the direct participation of the masses can bring true popular rule to a country, and change the masses into a vibrant People.

WHEN TERRORISTS BECOME RESPECTABLE



ZIONISM has waged a genocidal terrorist war against the Arabs for decades. This blood thirsty activity led by people who can only be described as war criminals, reached a fever pitch of blood lust when the King David Hotel was blown to pieces, killing many British servicemen and Arab civilians.

Even worse was the complete annihilation of the entire Arab village of Deir Yassin. Neither women, even those obviously carrying children, or children themselves were spared.

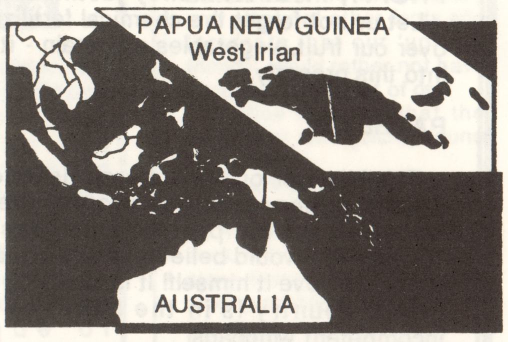
The people who perpetrated such massacres have never been brought to justice, although it is widely known who they are. Instead, they have been warmly welcomed on State visits throughout the world, even, or should we say especially, in Britain. They are held in high esteem by the morally bankrupt self-imposed leaders of the West.

The Israeli government has now decided to honour terror groups like the Stern Gang. This is a deliberate and calculated insult to all Palestinians and families of British servicemen who were murdered by Zionism.

The height of arrogance was reached on 31st January, when top Israeli government figures unveiled thirty seven plaques commemorating Zionist underground activities before the creation of the illegal State in 1948. This is yet another outrage that shows how richly Israel deserves its title of "The Terror State".

THE NATION versus THE STATE

The Global Struggle



ONE of the tenets of Third Position ideology is nationalism and, in particular, the right of all nations to rule themselves.

There are as many 'stateless' nations in the world as there are states. In fact when the colonial powers withdrew from their overseas territory the newly independent states were often amalgams of various nations which the imperialist ruling powers of the West had ignored and forced together.

A good example of this is Indonesia, a state composed of thousands of islands and divided by religion, nationality and race, but dominated by the Javanese. A few readers may remember the spate of publicity orientated hijackings in the Netherlands in the 1970's by South Moluccans - second generation immigrants whose people had been forced to flee their short-lived republic.

None are likely to know of the Aceh separatists - Sumatran muslims - or the East Timor guerrillas, despite a bitter and bloody war.

PLEBISCITE

Of even less topicality will be West Irian which shares an island larger than New Zealand, and situated just off the north eastern tip of Australia, with Papua New Guinea. Although given to Indonesia in 1962, the native melanesian population of West Irian are quite distinct from the rest of Indonesia. With this in mind a plebiscite had been agreed for 1969 but predictably it never materialised.

The nation v. The State. Members of the OPM - Struggling for self-determination.

So in the 1970's the Free Papua Movement (OPM) was formed and began a bush war in order to unify the area once again with Papua. Readers may be interested to know that the OPM were participants in a world conference of liberation movements in Tripoli in 1986.

The Indonesian response to the liberation struggle has, in recent years, turned from military repression to a more insidious strategy.

IMMIGRATION THREAT

Under the auspices of populating the sparce eastern islands, thousands of Javanese settlers have been encouraged to move permanently under a Transmigration programme. The result is that immigration threatens the cultural and racial composition of the outer areas in a way that makes our own fears in Europe look relatively mild.

Coupled with this is the melanesian exodus which has led to at least 17 refugee camps being set up to maintain 12,000 Irianese.

Nevertheless, under the collective leadership of Fiser Yariseteouw and Charles Mida the OPM have vowed to continue their resistance to forced immigration and military rule.

THIS issue's 'Comment' takes the form of a "Guest" appearance. It comes from a young lady, originally from Germany, now living in the British Isles. We feel that its message deserves the most serious consideration - and more importantly, action - from all adherents to the Third Position.

THE GREEN MARCH

I AM a great supporter of yours and have recently become a 'Friend of the Movement' as have other members of my family resident in West Germany.

I am delighted to see that the National Front is supporting 'Green' issues, but I wonder how far this really stretches. It is one thing to say you care for the environment, but quite another to do something about it.

I would be interested to hear how individual members contribute to a safer and cleaner environment. How many of you use CFC-free aerosols, bio-degradeable washing-up liquid and other cleaning products, recycled paper, take your bottles to the bottle bank, keep your newspapers for recycling?

CHEMICAL FARMING

The BBC showed an interesting and extremely shocking programme on the 6th February 1989 about 'Modern Farming' (i.e. intensive, chemical farming). It showed the treatment of animals and poultry which are slaughtered to satisfy the ever-increasing gluttony of the people. There were appalling shots of tiny chickens being brutally thrown about, hurled onto fast-moving conveyor belts, shoved into buckets of vicious chemicals. The remaining 48% of these defenceless little birds can look forward to a short period of being confined in tiny cages in which they can hardly turn around, followed by a trip to the slaughter house where their intestines will be processed and used for feed for the next generation of battery hens (if they've got Salmonella, so what?); various other parts will be used for human consumption, and the bones and feathers used to make glue - a ghastly prospect, wouldn't you say?

Then there are the cows whose brains are effected by a new bovine disease caused by the recycled sheep's offals in their feed. The cows stagger and fall about and no doubt suffer appallingly, but no matter, what is most important - PROFIT, PROFIT, PROFIT. Money justifies everything.

Let us not forget the chemical fertilizer so lavishly sprayed all over our fruit, vegetables and grain - it would take pages to go into this properly.

PATHETIC

The Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food generously agreed to appear on the programme - I don't know why he bothered for his performance was pathetic. Not even a 10-year-old would believe what he was saying, and he clearly did not believe it himself! It is terrifying to think that the running of our country is in the hands of such patronising and incompetent windbags!

When the Minister, (I cannot think of words strong enough to express my contempt for this man), was asked the reason why so many Food Research Laboratories were being closed down, his reply was that the government felt that Industry should pay for research - what a typical politician's reply! We all know that most industry is only interested in one thing - PROFIT. After all, why bother with research which costs money (eating into their millions of pounds profit) when the British peoples will eat the food anyway - what choice have we got?

NO CHOICE

We have no choice but to eat what is on the shelves. Most of us could not afford the extortionate prices charged for organically-grown produce. For instance, organically-grown tomatoes at £1,59 per pound as compared to chemically-grown tomatoes at 68p per pound.

It should be a policy of the National Front to see that proper, healthy and wholesome food is available for EVERYBODY at reasonable prices.

These are not just issues for the Friends of the Earth, or the Green Party, or the Animal Liberation Front - they effect EVERYBODY - not only ourselves, but our children and future generations.

Something has got to be done - NOW!

DEAR EDITOR

REVOLUTION AND REFORM

Dear Sir,

I enclose subscription to NF News plus £1.20 for sample copy of Nationalism Today.

I very much appreciated reading one or two recent issues. Very informative and encouraging in its positive outlook: Third Way; Distributism; federalism; self-determination etc.

It was also pleasing to see revival of interest in the flags of the countries that make up the union. Wales has had a raw deal in this respect, has it not? Perhaps one day the Union flag will incorporate the Welsh dragon somewhere?

The NF symbol strikes me as a beautiful design. Would it be possible to have badges, stickers etc in colour, as black Union Jacks and crosses have been misunderstood?

I am a little uneasy about the frequent use of the word "revolutionary"; in a sense it is rightly used, but in most people's minds it is associated with violence and force and exremism. Any real beneficial change in our land has come through evolution. Isn't discretion needed? We could be handing ammunition to the enemy. Mrs. Thatcher's revolution is of course a literal one - going back full circle to the first half of the nineteenth century. Reform would perhaps be better, although the Tories have hijacked that as well!

I can well understand the outrage expressed in the 'News' about the behaviour of members of the royal family, but I hope the NF is not going to campaign for the abolition of the monarchy.

Individual monarchs can be replaced if they desert their people, as history has shown. But the monarchy itself, is as an office, a basic part of our Constitution and must ever be so. This country had its taste of republicanism, and according to the history books we were not impressed.

As far as Ian Paisley's "ineffectual rantings", it cannot be overstressed that Northern Ireland as a whole has been rendered politically impotent by central government, especially the present regime, and at the same time its few members are totally outnumbered in a largely hostile House of Commons.

All men like Ian Paisley can do is try to draw the attention of people on the mainland, as well as in Ulster, to the shared dangers we face. It is not his fault few listen!

The events of British history 300 years ago are very relevant today. Unfortunately, history is no longer taught properly in our schools, so not many understand the situation.

For a large part of the 17th century many of our people had suffered grievously at the hands of overbearing monarchs, and the interference in our affairs of a foreign power, that is the Vatican, through foreign monarchs. It was as a result of this that our present Constitution was formed, with a limited monarchy, Bill of Rights and insistence on the Protestant accession, as the only way of preventing interference in our affairs.

Unfortunately, our economy was to be put into the hands of foreign usurers, and modern parliament has assumed the place of autocratic monarchs, but that is another story.

Yours faithfully,
M.B. Sheffield.

Editorial reply

It is easy for the phrase "revolution" to be over-used and to come across implying violent seizure of power, or just juvenile jargon. But it would also be wrong to pretend that anything less than a spiritual, social, economic, cultural and political revolution can save our nations. Our aim must be to strike a balance in our phraseology.

We criticise Ian Paisley's "ineffectual rantings" not only because that is what they are, and all they ever could be under the terms of the Westminster dictatorship, but also because he was one of the few people who did have the power to initiate something effective to destroy the Anglo-Irish Agreement when it was first introduced. Various Ulster groups such as the Ulster Clubs and the Ulster NF proposed actions which would allow ordinary people to take the initiative and begin to win effective day to day control of their country. Paisley blocked any such moves by convincing large numbers of people that petitions to the queen, honking car horns and winning parliamentary by-elections would somehow cause the Agreement to crumble. "Leave it to the politicians, leave it to the experts, leave it to me", was his message. That's why the Agreement is still intact and the campaign against it is dead. Paisley is to blame more than anyone else for this. True, he is ignored on the mainland, but in Ulster he carried enormous political weight and people did listen to him. Far fewer are likely to make the same mistake again.

As for the monarchy, in its real sense we do not have one as it was replaced by a plutocracy making use of a mere figurehead dressed in the trappings that went with that institution. The clothes without the Emperor. We do not need figureheads, we can speak for ourselves.

The Constitution is not ours. It was and still is enforced upon us and is something that we are pledged to lead the people to change.

We agree that history is not taught properly in schools. As always, it is the victors' history, twisted to suit their purpose or reflecting their sympathies. And we do not agree with your interpretation. The Vatican began to realistically lose its political power with the death of St. Charles the Great, in other words as soon as she had gained it. By the 17th century she had little real influence over politics. The Vatican actually supported the campaign of Orange in 1690 for tactical reasons. She forsaw the danger of an attitude that would further disunify what remained of Christendom and what eventually led to the rise of a divisive 19th century Nationalism. The main protagonist of this attitude at the time was Louis XIV who backed James in his attempt to regain the throne.

Parliament was, is and shall for the rest of its duration be a corrupt and undemocratic institution. It was initiated at the instigation of the powerful landed class of the time and exclusively served their class. Times may have changed but it is undemocratic by its very nature. Parliament represents the people, in other words it does what it thinks is in our best interests. It does not do what we wish to be done.

ULSTER

Dear NFN,

One suggestion that has been made towards solving the Ulster question is to redraw the border, to exclude large Catholic communities and grant resettlement grants to Catholic families in, for example, West Belfast, an area which would still be in Ulster.

The plain fact is that a large number of Catholics do not want to live in a British controlled Northern Ireland, and to exclude them from Ulster might make the state more secure.

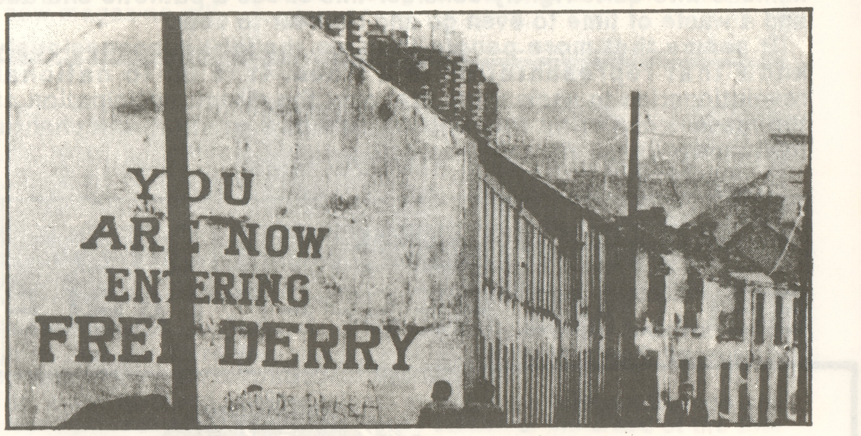
Any state which has a large alien or alienated minority in its population is weakened. A four county 100% Protestant Ulster might be stronger than the present state which is ruling its minority against their will. And, after all, isn't a strong Ulster what we all want?

Yours sincerely,
C.S. London.

Editorial reply

Everyone desires a secure, prosperous and peaceful Ulster, but for this to become a reality, Ulster must draw upon her rich heritage which pre-dates sectarianism.

We agree that large numbers of Ulster Catholics do not want to live in a British controlled Northern Ireland. Neither do a growing number of Ulster Protestants. And furthermore, we don't want Ulster people to have to live under a Westminster controlled Northern Ireland. They have the right to rule themselves and look after their own affairs the same as anyone else.



Derry or Londonderry? There are no easy answers.

Ulster, as with every other nation that has existed, exists or will exist has always found it necessary or expedient to redraw its borders at certain times so there is no real argument for not considering redrawing her borders once again. But this suggestion appears to us to be far too drastic. It will create more problems than it will solve.

For one thing, the people of Ulster, whatever their religious affiliations, have far more in common with each other than any of them have with the people of Eire or the peoples on the mainland.

What about the substantial minority of Catholics who are pro-Union, let alone the far larger number who would be loyal to an Ulster free from the dictates of London or Dublin if it offered them the chance to be so? And what about the Protestant farmers of the border areas who have survived and suffered many long years of IRA murder and intimidation?

And for that matter, would Ulster's Protestants be prepared to hand over their "Maiden City" - Londonderry, which would be lost if a just settlement on these lines was reached.

When it comes down to it, it is for the Ulster people to decide and determine where their destiny lies, not those of us who don't live there.

POETS CORNER

Oh what a wonderful dream,
for I dreamt I was free.
But when I awoke
I was still tied to that Machine,
for it was only a dream, without that Machine.

Oh how I hate the factory floor,
my monotonous job is just a bore,
for I am just a slave that serves the Machine that's tied to that factory floor.
Oh what a wonderful dream,
for I yearn to be free.

G.R.

Many young nationalists possess talents that the System does not let them express easily. Cultural dissemination, like many other things, has become a closed shop, open only to those who don't rock the boat. If you possess a talent for poetry, painting, drawing, sculpture, craftwork etc, let us know, and help us to build the nationalist Counter Culture.

NELSON MANDELA

Dear Sir,

I was appalled recently to see and hear about the conditions of how jailed ANC terrorist 'leader' Nelson Mandela was to be allowed to move into a comfortable home complete with all mod cons (especially the luxury swimming pool!) Does the public really know the truth about Mandela's evils? I doubt it.

Why can't we see a lot more in depth reports in NFN about the evilness of such dross?

Mandela is a terrorist who has allegedly planned and activated bombs for the ANC grouping. Most importantly the landmine which blew up a White school bus full of children years ago.

The media seems to have forgotten how evil this man is. Please tell us more of the home truths of such people.

Yours for our nations,
C.H. Cardiff.

WHITE NOISE MUSIC CLUB

POPULAR CULTURE, including THE MUSIC INDUSTRY, is run by multi-racist Capitalists, but at last an organization has been formed to fight this disease and promote a healthy youth culture in its many forms. It is called COUNTER CULTURE and will replace the old successful White Noise music club, whose membership will automatically be transferred to the new group without losing any money or priviliges. Until the new magazine hits the streets, those wishing to build a popular COUNTER CULTURE should still join White Noise, the last issue of whose fanzine has just been produced.

White Noise Club members get a free subscription to the fanzine White Noise, special offers and the satisfaction of helping to build a real alternative music scene.

Membership costs just £6 per year (£8 in Europe), so join today. Cheques/PO's payable to White Noise, PO Box 340, Cardiff, Cymru, CF1 7UX.

THE VIDEO SHOP

Even if you don't own a video you can easily and cheaply rent one for an evening. Consider the video option and start making inroads into Establishment doublethink in your area. Remember, our adversaries fear most our utilization of their most effective weapons and so far television has been the most powerful weapon in their arsenal of deceit. Let's make it our means for propagating the truth for a change!

'SKULLHEAD' IN CONCERT

WHITE NOISE CHRISTMAS GIG VIDEO. Filmed in Newcastle at the end of 1986. Feel the atmosphere as Britain's number 1 White Noise band take to the stage. This tape is lively and exciting and only costs £15 including postage.

LIES DAMN LIES

YOU saw the attempted hatchet job on the NF on Channel 4's Dispatches programme - Well now see our reply to these smearmongers on video. Watch the NF tear apart the lies and fabrications of the enemies of nationalism.

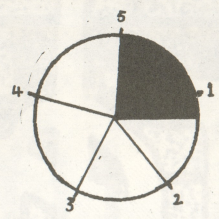
ADVERTISING PUSH



THE most important weapon in the armoury of the materialist and exploitative forces in control of our land is their ability to subvert healthy values and trends through the manipulation or control of the media. But their democratic charade offers us the opportunity to play them at their own game by using the media to our own advantage. For this reason we have set up an Advertising Fund to allow us to place adverts in the press in areas that we have analysed as being important for the Movement to recruit in.

The advertisement on the right was placed in a regional newspaper recently in order to show that many secions of the press will accept advertisements from the National Front. Not only was the advert accepted, but it brought in a fair number of enquiries which have already strengthened the Movement in its process of physical development.

We have set ourselves a target of £500 to be achieved by mid-April so that we can gain the maximum results from this campaign.

But in order to be able to place the adverts in all the areas that we have selected we must reach our £500 target. Help us to build the Movement of the Future by donating as much as you can afford today.

Please send cheques/postal orders or International Money Orders, made payable to Advertising Fund, to The Secretary, PO Box 57, Romford, Essex, RM7 9BG. Please quote the reference number NFN 116 when donating.

Many thanks to those who have answered our appeal.

NF NEWS SUPPORTERS action list

This column is aimed at National Front News Supporters and their activity units. We will offer advice, give new instructions and make suggestions on how we can make the NF even more efficient and successful. So don't just read it - ACT ON IT!

- Every NFN Supporter must recruit personally 3 FOM's from among friends, family or workmates this year.
- All NFN units must prepare to contest local elections. Contact PO Box 228 for advice if necessary.
- NFN Supporters can make a valuable contibution by monitoring a specific newspaper or broadcasting channel for anti-NF bias. Volunters should contact PO Box 228, Manor Park, London for more information.
- Steps to boost the circulation of NFN are vital. Organize new door to door sales now, and start work on a potentially good neighbouring area.

POLITICAL SOLDIER - Thoughts on Sacrifice and Struggle
Derek Holland.
The long awaited second instalment of the Political Soldier trilogy. An invitation for political militants to take the next vital step on the long road towards building the New Man. Essential reading for the serious minded who have unfurled the banner of the Political Soldier.
£2 including postage.

ACTION
Jean Ousset.
"The subtle raising of multiple questions and the most eloquent dissertation on rights and duties matters little, if all this does not end in action." ACTION, as the title suggests, specifies the requirements of action and the conditions for its efficacy. Written from a religious perspective, the book abounds with sound teaching for the political militant.

I BELIEVED
Douglas Hyde.
Douglas Hyde was not only a dedicated Communist cadre but also editor of the old C.P. newspaper, the Daily Worker. Through the years he gradually became disenchanted with Marxism for a variety of reasons and discovered the creed of Distributism. This is his story - the story of a Quest for Social Justice.

LEGAL

FIGHT ON AFTER YOU'VE GONE!

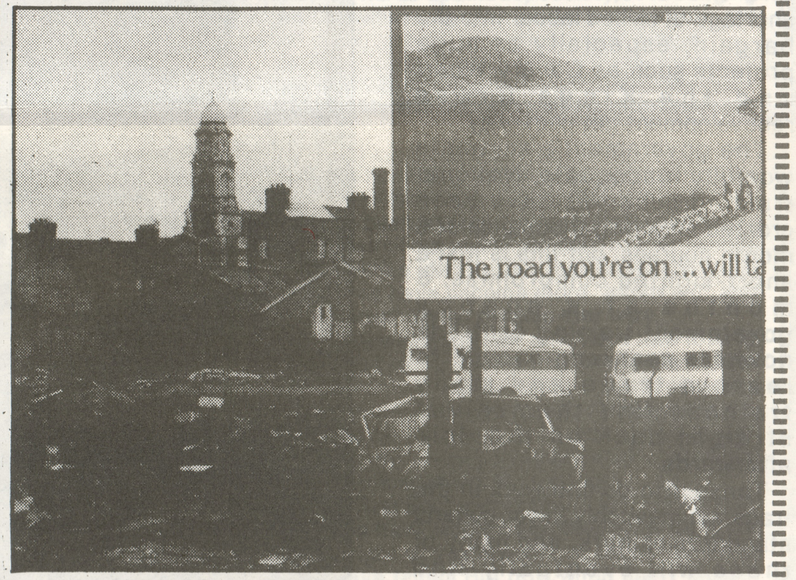
ONE of the greatest regrets our supporters - and especially our oldest supporters - have is that they will not be able to carry on fighting for the Cause for ever!

In 1980, the financial survival of the movement was ensured by the bequest of one of our deceased members. That member was never to know what a vital part she played in the history of our movement, but that does not detract from her contribution.

While, thankfully, the movements finances are on a much more secure footing, the movement is always in need of money to enable it to carry out activities necessary to development.

Make sure that you remember the National Front when you make out your Will. If you have already written your Will add a codicil for the benefit of the movement. If you are unsure about any of the legal technicalities in arranging this, please do not hesitate to contact our Legal Department.

BECOME A FRIEND OF THE MOVEMENT



IT'S THE LEAST YOU CAN DO!

Are you just going to recoil in horror at all too common scenes like that pictured above or are you prepared to help us build a better society?

To build a better society we need to build the National Front and the way to do this is for YOU to become a 'Friend of the Movement'.

To become a member of this association it costs a mere £15 per year - in other words we are asking you to give less than 29 pence a week to help save our country. Surely it's the least you can do!

In return you will receive a FOM card, we will keep you updated with important developments and achievements in our work and you will gain the satisfaction of knowing that you are playing an important part in our struggle. Quite apart from allowing us to carry on with, and expand, our work, Friends of the Movement play the important role of acting as the eyes and ears of the Movement in the population.

I would like to become a Friend of the Movement and enclose a cheque/postal order for £15 in favour of Friends of the Movement.

AUTONOMY!

BUILDING FOR DECENTRALISATION

THE CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY is still enjoying its "Big Bang" led upsurge in activity even though the house price spiral seems to have largely broken. But a closer look shows that it is not at all healthy in many respects, not least for the rank and file employees.

Firstly, the wages and conditions fought so hard for in the 1940's and '50's are now irrelevant as direct labour has been replaced with "self-employed" labour. But the majority of building workers are not "small businesses" under this set up, as Thatcher tried to suggest at the Tory conference. They actually have no control over their working lives, and can be easily dismissed at a moments notice.

As a further result of this, working conditions are more dangerous than in the 1930's as accountability is non-existant and profits take priority. And whilst many rates of pay may be quite good at the moment, the workforce would be totally helpless if wages were to plummet.

Of course, industry bosses did themselves no favours when they phased out apprenticeships in the lates 1970's. This, of course, is entirely in keeping with our increasingly mediocre society, and there is now an acute shortage of skilled labour into the bargain, especially as huge projects such as Canary Wharf and the Kings Cross redevelopment get underway.

The government's answer is woefully inadequate. National training schemes have been created involving thousands of 6 month courses, but this is just a short-sighted compromise. 6 months at a shabby government training centre is nowhere near long enough to learn a trade and many trainees find themselves straight back on the dole afterwards.

Those who do find work in the trade will inevitably lower general standards of work, and many of these will eventually find themselves out of a job when the industry slackens off.

The government hasn't a clue how it's going to solve the skill shortage, and we should ask ourselves just how stable a political system it is that fails to predict and cater for a boom in one of its largest industries.

TORY PROPAGANDA

As already mentioned, the "self-employment" label is largely cynical Tory propaganda and small businesses are actually going to the wall in the building trade and the associated retailing industry. Giants such as Tarmac, Wimpy and the DIY chainstores increase their power and influence at the expense of the smaller firms in true Capitalist form.

The end result of this centralization is excessive bureaucracy, with needless middle men springing up everywhere. Every aspect of work is contracted out and then further sub-contracted.

Meanwhile, top industry personnel are more likely to be financiers and City men than professional builders. Events on the Japanese stockmarket become more important than instigating an efficient service by a skilled workforce.

DECENTRALIZE

It is hard to agitate within the de-unionised atmosphere of the building trade where Tory "self" ethics prevail, but we must always push the NF's answer of quality and efficiency through de-centralization, and true public ownership in the national interest, through small businesses and workers co-ops.

We must let other construction workers know that the NF will put a stop to the over-expansion of construction outfits by using progressive taxation to divert excessive profits from private hands into the welfare of our communities.

Co-ops and small localised building outfits represent responsibility of labour force, accountability of management and a healthy competitiveness that benefits right across the board. The more small building firms there are, the more everyone can benefit from the available work, because small firms cannot take on more work than they can cope with. Neither can they keep up a sustained policy of undercutting, thereby making huge losses, in order to drive everyone else out of the market.

Of course, this would also go along way towards eliminating outdated and futile class concepts and misunderstandings.

A further practical idea towards this end would be the inclusion in training programmes of professionals such as architects for a compulsory period of physical construction work. Only a tradesman can appreciate how much good that would do for the industry.

NO SUBSTITUTE

Finally, there is no substitute for quality and no short cut to a properly trained workforce.

Poor training methods cost the trade millions of pounds and result in a lack of work fulfillment. We must make it clear that the National Front is pledged to reinstate the system of apprenticeships as they are the cornerstone of an efficient and traditional construction industry. as well as being wholly in keeping with personal, environmental and national interests.

BUILD AN ALTERNATIVE ECONOMY

AS a first step towards building an alternative nationalist economy, the NF must aim to encourage its members and supporters to work together and trade together.

There are at present several opportunities for skilled building workers or fit youngsters interested in learning more about the building trade, working with fellow nationalists.

If you think this could suit you, please write with brief details of your experience etc, to PO Box 228, Manor Park, London, E12.

Please mark your envelope "NATBUILD" to ensure prompt attention.
